BLAINE DENIES HE TRIED TO INFLUENCE VOTE OF RIDGWAY

Governor Replies to Charges Made by Elkhorn Legislator on Floor of Senate

CLAIMS SENATOR HAD SOUGHT PLACE ON BOARD OF CONTROL

Executive Scores Ridgway's Vote Against Tax Bill

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—Governor Blaine in a letter Friday to Senator Elkhorn T. Ridgway, Elkhorn, denied that he had ever sought to influence the vote of the senator on any legislation, and pointed out what he said were specific instances when the Elkhorn legislator had definitely sought appointment to the state board of control. The governor's letter was written in reply to charges by Senator Ridgway on the floor of the senate when he declared that an effort had been made to "buy" his vote on tax bills with offers of appointments.

In his letter to the senator, Governor Blaine said that "you know, and I think in honor should have stated, that there never was any conversation between yourself and the executive office, either with me personally or with anyone attached to the office or with anyone on my behalf or to my knowledge, concerning any legislation, with reference to either your candidacy for the position on the state board of control or to the vacancy in the office of county judge of Walworth county."

Can't Justify Vote

"The fact that you were not appointed cannot justify your vote against the fulfillment of a pledge to which you are committed," the governor wrote.

Neither can any pretended suggestion of a bribe or of a bribe attempt about the capital, compromise any statement, justify your statement or your vote against the taxation measures that had been overwhelmingly endorsed by the people of this state.

"I have discussed the taxation measures with you very frankly, and I have always insisted that the party pledge should be fulfilled and that you were committed to that pledge."

After quoting from Senator Ridgway's statement in which he is reported to have said that he had "never made application for a position on the state board of control," Governor Blaine outlined instances in which he said the senator did seek the board appointment.

Sought State Position

"Permit me to call to your attention," the governor wrote, "that early in the year you called at the executive office, seeking a position on the state board of control, and that you repeatedly informed me to appoint you to such position, and let me assure you, senator, that importunities by a senator during a legislative session when important measures are pending and when such senator must vote upon the confirmation of an appointee, exceedingly embarrass the executive. You realized that and told me so, after I had appointed John D. Morrissey to the position you sought and for whom, I understand, you voted for confirmation."

"You not only informed me to make that appointment, but you pay."

Etna's Activity Decreasing Today No Lives Taken

CATANIA.—For the first time since Mount Etna became violent a ray of hope dawned Friday morning for the much-tried inhabitants of the volcanic region. The danger is not yet ended for the crater of the mountain is still belching molten streams of lava and great rocks. It is impossible to prophesy how long Etna will continue active, but a return to more normal conditions is expected within a short time. Although the loss in property has been enormous the present eruption of Sicily's great mountain of terror has claimed no human victims. Even physical injuries have been extremely rare.

LIVING WAX MODEL FAILS IN ATTEMPT TO MARRY IN CITY

A romance that started in La Crosse, blossomed for four days and then underwent a sort of eclipse, came to light when Harry Levy, a "living wax model" who for four days this week "did his stuff" in the window of a Main street store as he advertised a vacuum cleaner, and Florence Herde applied for a marriage license at the office of the county clerk.

So far everything went swimmingly along, smooth as silk, as "Ivory," but obtaining the license was only the beginning. The next question was to get married. Mrs. Paul Herde, mother of Florence Herde, the bride-to-be, accompanied her smiling daughter and the debutante Mr. Levy to the county clerk's office.

From the clerk's office the party went to County Judge Bridgley. Again matters moved along smoothly until the judge saw on the license application the fact that Levy, who was 25 and the bride-to-be 20, had been divorced from his first wife in Terra Haute, Ind., in September 1922. Then the judge refused to marry them. He said they would have to wait a year before they could be married.

"My boy," pronounced the judge, "my boy, there is nothing I can do for you. I would have to look up the divorce laws of Indiana first."

This was 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

"How long will it take for you to look up the law?" inquired the "living wax model."

"A couple of hours, perhaps," responded the judge.

"Oh my, I can't wait that long," exclaimed the "model." "I have to catch a train at 4:30 p. m. for Dubuque."

Whereat the "living wax model" and his bride-to-be left the judge's office.

Levy gave his birthplace as Wisconsin and his present home at Cleveland. At the courthouse he said he had been corresponding with Miss Herde for some time.

THERMOMETER HITS HIGHEST MARK OF THE YEAR FRIDAY

Record Breaking Hot Day Makes Citizens Swelter; No Relief in Sight

TWO ARE DEAD IN WISCONSIN CITIES AS RESULT OF HEAT

Whole Country Swept by Heat With Eastern Cities Hottest

The thermometer will hit the high mark of the year this afternoon, according to the prediction of the weather man this morning.

Yesterday was another sweltering day, with a maximum temperature of 91 recorded at the weather bureau. Boston and Washington were again the two hottest cities in the country, the former reporting 96 and the capital 98. Memphis and New York had temperatures of 94.

No heat prostrations have thus far been reported in this city, although many workmen, exhausted by the extreme heat, have been forced to quit work during the hottest part of the day.

Generally fair and continued warm weather is the prediction of the weather bureau.

Country Swelters

CHICAGO, Ill.—Approximately three states experienced unreasonable cold Thursday while the rest of the United States sweltered. Some relief is in sight for many sections but in others there will be no break in the heat wave, forecasters say.

Scores of deaths and numerous prostrations have been caused by the hot weather. High temperature records were made in many cities.

The most notable contrast was furnished by New Mexico, where a severe frost made it necessary to break ice in watering troughs in some sections; the mercury dropped to 28 degrees above zero in the Arizona desert. Citizens of Superior, Wis., hurriedly dragged out winter clothing when the temperature descended to 40. At Duluth, Minn., the minimum was 52 and generally cooler weather was experienced in North Dakota.

Kenosha Man Stricken

KENOSHIA, Wis.—Frank M. Wenner, aged 55 years, died from heat prostration here Friday morning. Wenner had been working in his garden and went into the house for breakfast. He collapsed as he started to leave the house.

Madison Man Dead

MADISON, Wis.—The heat wave claimed its first victim in Madison Friday, when Julius Selz Wedel, 74, was prostrated while walking to work. He died last night at a local hospital.

Superior Out of Wood

SUPERIOR, Wis.—The local supply of wood has been exhausted by the demands of residents wanting it for fuel to use in their fire places due to the cold weather of the past several days, according to local fuel merchants Friday.

SUPERIOR WOMAN SUICIDES

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Mrs. Amelia Welton, 42, Thursday night committed suicide by hanging in a bedroom of her home here.

The woman was said by her husband to have been mentally unbalanced, superinduced by a lingering illness. She threatened to kill herself about two weeks ago, the husband told the police.

SECOND DEGREE MANSLAUGHTER, JURY VERDICT

Cliffwood Inn Owner Stoically Receives Sentence in Circuit Court Thursday Evening

REPEATS PLEA THAT SHE WAS NOT GUILTY TO THE JUDGE

Wickham Overrules Motion for New Trial and Stay of Sentence

MRS. Etta (Kate) Daley, charged with the murder of her husband Chicago Jack Daley, was found guilty, by a jury in circuit court Thursday evening of manslaughter in the second degree, and was sentenced to six years in state's prison by Judge James Wickham. She will be removed to Waupun by Sheriff Lund within the next few days.

Case to Jury at 3:40 p. m.

The case was given to the jury at 3:40 p. m. after Judge Wickham had spoken for an hour in charging the jury. The first argument was made by George H. Gordon, assistant district attorney, John F. Doherty spoke next for the defense and then R. S. Cowie, Stanley Gordon, district attorney, closed the arguments in the afternoon.

The jury announced at 7 p. m. that it had reached an agreement. Clerk of Court Kleber was the first to arrive. Within a few minutes Judge Wickham, District Attorney Gordon and Quincey Hale of Cowie and Hale, appearing for Mrs. Daley, were in the courtroom. H. A. Albrecht, foreman of the jury handed the verdict to the court and the judge called Mrs. Daley to the bar and read the verdict.

Mrs. Daley Like Stoic

Mrs. Daley stood before the judge like a stoic. After the reading of the verdict the court asked her if she had anything to say why judgment should not be passed upon her.

"No, only that I am not guilty," replied Mrs. Daley in a firm voice.

"The judgment of this court is that you be confined at hard labor in the state's prison at Waupun for a period of six years," said the court.

This isn't a sentence under the findings of the jury. You killed your husband, you should suffer. There is no need of my giving you any advice and I am not going to give you any."

Hale Asks For New Trial

Quincey Hale then moved for the arrest of judgment and that a new trial be granted. The court overruled this motion. Mr. Doherty was not in court when sentence was pronounced remaining at home because of slight illness from the heat. Mr. Cowie was out of town, leaving the city shortly after the conclusion of the trial, on another legal matter.

HARDING PLEADS FOR COURT

FIRECRACKER BAN OFF MAKES KIDS HAPPY; ORDERS ISSUED BY INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

The kids are happy again. They can have their firecrackers this year, and without making special trips over the pike to La Crescent after them either. The new ruling of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission allows the sale and use of firecrackers not to exceed two inches in length or one-quarter of an inch in diameter, without limitation, but lays down stringent regulations regarding other fireworks.

The order says that no firecrackers, sparklers, skyrockets, Roman candles, torpedoes, bombs, toy pistols, toy revolvers, toy firearms, explosive canes, or hammers, blank cartridges, explosive paper caps, son-of-a-guns, or other similar fireworks, appliances and displays shall be stored in a public building or place of employment, except in wholesale lots in the original packages. They must, unless the above conditions are complied with, be kept in isolated storage, 200 feet from the neighboring buildings.

The order further says that such fireworks, appliances or displays shall not be discharged closer than 200 feet from the nearest building. The rule for Roman candles and skyrockets stipulates that they must not be discharged closer than 500 feet to a building.

The order of the commission does not apply to Chinese firecrackers not over two inches in length or one-fourth inch in diameter, colored fire in compact cases, light torches with lighting ends covered, or fireworks displays made under the direction of town or municipal authorities.

BRITISH STEAMER DEFIES AMERICAN RUM REGULATIONS

NEW YORK.—Two British steamships, the Baltic and the Berengaria, docked Friday with liquor for the homeward voyage under seal in defiance of the treasury department dry ruling. But a high official at the custom house indicated late today that the seizure of wet goods ordered by Washington probably would not be made until Saturday morning.

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—While treasury department officials Friday were concentrating their attention on the Berengaria, the Baltic slipped into Quarantine with 6,152 bottles of liquor under British government seal for her next east-bound voyage, in defiance of American dry regulations.

Upon announcement that the Cunarder Berengaria was coming here Friday with sealed liquor to test the treasury department ruling that no liquor except for medicinal purposes must be carried across the three-mile limit, Secretary Mellon from Washington ordered his agents to board the Britisher and seize her wet goods. The fact that the White Star liner Baltic also was defying the dry edict apparently was not known to American government officials for no dry agents were at Quarantine to meet her.

It was learned that while the customs authorities intended to seize her sealed liquor they did not plan to act until after Captain Roberts had applied to the United States public health service for a permit to enter with liquor for medicinal purposes. After this permit has been issued, the customs agents were under orders to seize all liquor in excess of medicinal requirements, whether in or out of seal.

This program also would be followed with the incoming Berengaria and other ships carrying liquor under seal for the return trip, it was indicated.

Passengers on the Berengaria said they had had a pleasantly wet trip, ending with a ball Thursday night, but when they rose Friday morning looking for an "eye-opener" they found everything sealed tight. Passengers with pocket flasks were in great demand.

As the Berengaria crossed the three-mile limit, Purser Beynon said, passengers who had participated all evening in the final "wet" party, assigned to the deep empty bottle draped with crepe and bearing the inscription "Dedicated to the three-mile limit."

Staff Captain Eddin, second officer of the Berengaria, said:

"While the United States is preparing to seize our liquor brought in under seal, we are being flooded with offers of United States citizens to provide us with all the liquor we need for the return trip as soon as we cross the three-mile limit going out."

BOOSTER DAY AT ONALASKA DRAWS CROWD THURSDAY

Annual Event in Interests of Pure Bred Livestock is Well Attended

TRIAL OF SCRUB SIRE IS ONE OF MAIN FEATURES OF PROGRAM

Speeches, Stunts, Judging and Picnic on Varied Program

Several thousand persons, from all corners of the county, attended the annual Livestock Boosters' day at Onalaska Thursday and took part in the program which was given, in spite of the excessively hot weather, the turnout was gratifying to those in charge, and the persons who attended found a cool spot beneath the trees at the agricultural school grounds.

Trial of Scrub Sire

One of the most interesting events on the program of the day was the trial of the scrub sire, which was charged with murder, theft and the destruction of property. The bull was defended by Attorney A. C. Wolfe of La Crosse, with Attorney Fred E. Steele of La Crosse prosecuting. Mr. A. Manahan of Chicago, secretary of the National Dairy council, was presiding judge. Both sides sought to impress the jury by calling several witnesses, for and against the animal.

While his fate was being decided the bull lay passively and contentedly in an enclosure built for him near the judge's chair, and stared back into the faces of those who thronged around to see him. Above the scrub bull was a sign bearing the inscription: "The Highest Priced Bull in America." The bull was convicted by the unanimous vote of the jury and turned over to the Boosters.

Exhibit Stock

About 100 fine pure bred animals, mostly young stock, were exhibited at the grounds during the day. Judging took place in four classes, one each for men, women, boys and girls. Following the judging a parade of the livestock was held. Impressive and interesting talks by Mr. Manahan, Merin Hull, former secretary of state, Frank B. Aistrath, field man of the National Jersey Cattle club, and others, were a feature of the program. All of the speakers dwelt upon the importance and necessity of placing a pure bred sire at the head of every herd, pointing out the advantages which result from so doing. Ridding Bob Amundson's male proved to be more of a job than it appeared, and the antics of those who tried greatly amused the crowd.

Gala Day

Most of those who attended made a full day of it. The women brought the children, and well stocked picnic baskets for the noon lunch. Coffee and cream were served free at noon. With the tent housing the exhibition of livestock, the ray colors of the dresses of the women and girls, and refreshment vendors threading their way through the crowds during the day, the grounds of the agricultural school assumed a circus-like aspect.

FARMER BADLY INJURED

ASHLAND, Wis.—With one eye completely blown out and his body horribly mangled as the result of a premature explosion of dynamite on his farm near Glidden, Frank Mertek has been brought here in an effort to save his life. His skull was fractured, his left hand blown off, several ribs were broken and his body badly lacerated.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—President Harding, braving this hottest of Republican and Democratic opposition to the league of nations and all its works, Thursday night reiterated advocacy of American participation in the league's permanent court of international justice, with new recommendations designed to relieve opposition to his plan in the senate and to restore harmony in the Republican party.

The presidential special reached St. Louis at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. A vast crowd filled the station and streets outside, and Mr. Harding was wildly cheered as he headed an automobile procession through the downtown streets. At the Coliseum he briefly addressed the convention of the Rotary international, urging the members to plant the rotarian spirit throughout the world.

Ideas Startle Audience

The President startled his audience with a proposal which carried him far beyond his original reservations to the world court protocol, advancing as a new fundamental to American participation in the court the basic principle that the court be made self-perpetuating by granting authority to its judges to fill vacancies by transferring this function from the council and assembly of the league of nations.

While praising the world court as constituted in glowing terms and proclaiming as out of the question the setting up of entirely new machinery in order to appease the anti-league sentiment in the country, President Harding, in approaching his new proposals, expressed a desire that the court be made as free as possible from any league control or influence.

Issue Double Challenge

Before reaching his suggestions, the President firmly planted his feet on the world court idea as the only available means for America to help Europe in maintaining world peace and issued a double challenge—a challenge to the sincerity for world peace of Americans who would keep their nation out of the court, and a challenge to European powers which adhere rigidly to the present construction of the court rather than grasp the helping hand of the United States.

Dismissing from consideration irreconcilable opponents of the court who would have America "live as a hermit nation," and those who openly advocate the court as a stepping stone toward joining the league of nations, the President declared that it was his earnest hope that he might reconcile objections to the present world court organization held by the Americans who believe fundamentally in a world court of justice.

Plan of Reconstruction

Granting the excellence of the court as now constituted the President would have it reconstructed for self-perpetuation in this manner.

FIRST.—By empowering the court to fill vacancies in its own membership without interposition from any other body.

SECOND.—By continuing existing authority of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague to nominate judges but transferring power to elect from the council and the assembly of the league to the remaining members of the court of justice.

Other changes the President proposed, but the self-perpetuating plan was his major suggestion, falling unexpectedly on the ears of a community which a month ago cheered Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), irreconcilable opponent of the Harding court participation plan, and in a commonwealth wherein Missouri's governor, Arthur M. Hyde, declared in a recent telegram to Senator Lodge (Rep., Mass.), reside 500,000 Republicans who would have nothing to do with the league or anything therewith allied.

QUEEN LIL'S WILL WITHSTANDS FOUR ACTIONS IN COURT

Litigation Extending Over Six Years Ended With Withdrawal of Last Suit

HONOLULU — Litigation over the will of the late Queen Liliuokalani, last reigning monarch in Hawaii, which has occupied the courts here since her death in 1917, has been terminated with the withdrawing of the suit filed by Mrs. Kahakaukahi, Himoewalevalua (correct) Kawa Nawiliwili to break the testament. The 20-letter name means "The Wandering Child of the Sleeping Waters."

Mrs. Nawiliwili's action was the fourth that had been brought in an effort to overturn the will. She contended that she was the next of kin to the former queen.

The first suit was filed by the late Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianaʻōle, former delegate to Congress, and was settled by compromise.

The second suit, filed by Mrs. Emma K. De Fries, was dismissed. The third action, based on a will which named the "Princess" Theresa Owana Wilcox Belliveau Kelley and two other persons as beneficiaries, also was dismissed by the territorial supreme court.

This suit had a sensational aftermath. A Hawaiian minister, who testified that he witnessed the signature of the late queen to the document, told his attorney later that he had a vision or a dream, and confessed that the will was a fraud on the part of "Princess Theresa." As the result she was convicted of forgery and was sentenced to three years' imprisonment. She was released recently at the conclusion of her term.

Mrs. Nawiliwili's contest was dismissed some time ago on the ground that she had failed to prove her contention that she was related to the queen. She appealed to a jury but after a long court delay, because all of the attorneys she consulted told her that her case was without merit, she withdrew her suit.

U. S. CONSIDERING PLAN TO OPERATE HARD COAL MINES

Coal Commission Trying to Find Out What's Wrong With the Coal Industry

WASHINGTON — Proposals that the government take over the anthracite mines and operate them in the interest of the entire nation are being considered by the United States Coal Commission.

This commission was created by congress last fall. Its duty is to find out what's wrong with the entire coal industry. It will make its preliminary report, covering anthracite problems only, to the president on July 1. Those who are sponsoring the movement that the government operate the mines, contend that they now are run in the interest of New York and Philadelphia capitalists and the United Mine Workers of America.

After July 1 the commission will devote its attention to the bituminous end of the industry. Its entire report, embracing the bituminous situation, will be made September 22.

The Original Food-Drink for All Ages. Quick Lunch at Home Office & Fountains. Rich Milk, Malted Grain Extract in Powder & Tablet forms. Nourishing—No coloring. Avoid Imitations and Substitutes.

It will, then be up to congress whether the commission's proposals shall be written into law, modified or rejected.

One phase of the industry into which the commission is inquiring is the tax laid upon the public by the warring groups within the industry. Information on this subject is meagre, as neither miners or operators, for self-protection, have called attention to it. From what little information has been submitted, however, an unofficial observer estimates that the coal industry is levying a tax on the public of not less than $50,000,000 a year—and it may reach $100,000,000 to support its various trade associations and labor unions.

Figures compiled by Harry N. Taylor of Kansas City, Mo., one time president of the National Coal Association, show that in the states of Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, the United Mine Workers of America collected in union dues during 1921 the sum of $817,404, or an average of a little more than nine cents a ton on all coal mined in that section. Should that proportion apply to union coal mined elsewhere the total amount collected in 1921 to maintain the United Mine Workers of America approximated $26,000,000.

With this estimated $26,000,000 annual levy by the miners as a start, the aggregate is swelled by the cost of conducting manifold organizations of the operators and others selling coal. The soft coal operators alone are divided into upwards of 50 trade associations. Their expenses are estimated at not less than $10,000,000 annually. They give employment to hundreds, if not thousands of officials and employees. The jobbers and wholesalers have their associations and the retail coal merchants are organized in hundreds of local associations where dues range from $10 a year up.

COMMUNISTS AWED BY STUDENTS' HOAX

Meeting of Protest Following Murder of Russian Statesman Broken Up by Subterfuge

GENEVA.—The recent assassination of the Russian diplomat Vorovsky, at Lausanne, had a rather curious aftermath here, not without its humorous aspect.

The day after the murder the communists of Geneva organized a meeting of protest at the Apollo theater. A group of university students had it in mind to break up the meeting by force when one of their number conceived the idea of playing a practical joke, designed to alleviate the possibility of bloodshed and gain the desired end at the same time.

Just as the communists were about to assemble, the student with the idea telephoned to the theater and asked for the communist leader. "Chief of police speaking," said the student in a stern voice. "I'll give you exactly one hour to finish your meeting. There must be no process-sion, no communication to the press; otherwise you all go to jail."

An hour later a band of students from a neighboring cafe watched the communists disperse quietly, with no sign of a demonstration.

Insurgent Strategy

SENATOR Robert M. La Follette appears to have abandoned, at least for the present, his notion of leading a third party into the 1924 campaign. The senior senator gave serious consideration to the third party presidential nomination in 1920, and probably abandoned it only because its members failed to make a platform broad enough to sustain a national party. This year Senator La Follette has made plain on a number of occasions that he is interested in a third party, if at all, as a last alternative to his old program of remodeling the republican party nearer to his heart's desire.

Offhand, this may have an appearance of inconsistency, or it may be taken to indicate that the senator is fluttering about in the grasp of uncertainty. But one who is a friend, and what might be called a student of Senator La Follette, offers a most plausible explanation. In 1920 Senator La Follette was pretty much alone in congress. The progressive group, never fearfully strong, had been scattered by the world war. There was no cooperation for Senator La Follette there if we except the Wisconsin congressional delegation and a half dozen free lances from other states. If ever there was a time when the senator might have justified the complete surrender of the G. O. P. to its old guard, that time was 1920.

But 1923 finds Senator La Follette the center of the most formidable group of republican insurgents known to the history of the party, if we except only the Bull Moose offshoot of 1912. Several states have elected radical senators, and there are radical congressmen galore. There are a number of groups, the most substantial of which is the farm bloc. They disagree on many things of importance, but they seem to possess a consensus of opinion about the railroads, and it is about this issue that Senator La Follette is gathering them. He does not discuss prohibition, nor international politics unless the problem is pressed upon him. He is centering on the railroad issue, no doubt partly because with him it has always been the major issue, and partly because it furnishes the common rallying point which offers him his chance of success. Heretofore the La Follette group has been derided in republican conventions, but the new line-up of progressives does not expect to be made much sport of in 1924.

And so, says Senator La Follette's friend, it is easy to understand why Senator La Follette has turned aside from the third party idea at this time. He is nearer than ever before to a position of power which will compel the republican party to listen to him.

But the third party is not without a sponsor. As Senator La Follette steps out, Mr. Hearst steps in. Mr. Hearst's ambition for the presidency usually leads him through paths which other politicians do not care to follow. With Senator La Follette leading the fight of the republican insurgents, Mr. Hearst could not attract much attention in that crowd. The third party, abandoned by the leader which most it had courted, afforded the opportunity. By stepping into that camp Mr. Hearst would be noticed, even though the futility of the movement in such circumstances would be a foregone conclusion.

For Boys Only

COMMENCEMENT over thousands of young men and women are striking out in the world for themselves.

You graduates will get a lot of hard bumps in the next few years. They will seem harder to you than they really are. The reason they will seem harder is that your parents up to now have been taking these bumps for you—sheltering you against them. This happens in all generations, and later you will do the same for your children.

As time rolls on, you will become calloused to these hard knocks. Like going barefoot—at first it hurts the tender feet, but you soon get used to it. So don't get discouraged. Keep in mind that, as it takes hard work to develop your muscles, so also it takes quite a bit of rough treatment to "bring you out"—to develop your courage and resourcefulness, to enable you to handle power wisely and responsibility sanely.

Many of the greatest heartaches of life come when we strike out in the world for ourselves. Later you will realize that most of these troubles were mountains made out of molehills.

As you go on through life you will find two distinct classes of people. One will go out of its way to help you, to give the guiding directions that it learned by bitter experience. Pay close attention to these people, especially the old. They know the shortcuts to take and the pitfalls to avoid.

The others are plain nasty in varying degrees. At times they'll seem to be in the majority. They are the people who make life disagreeable and wretched for themselves as well as others. As a rule they are diseased, either mentally or physically. In this class you'll find the cranky boss, the inconsiderate stranger, also the vulture eager to take advantage of youthful gullibility and lack of experience.

As far as possible, ignore them. By no means, let them make you despondent, discouraged, bitter or cynical.

Distance

OJIBWAY Indians are rehearsing "Hiawatha" which they'll stage in August, celebrating the three-hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the "Soo" and Lake Superior by the white man.

The Ojibways marvel at Longfellow's accuracy in the matter of their Indian customs and their country. If they can get Longfellow on the ouija board, he'll tell them that he never was near said country. He got his "stuff" from an Indian chief whom he met in New York City.

However, that's one of the essentials of an expert. Peter Witt, traction expert, says an expert is a man who lives several hundred miles away and charges $100 a day for his services. A prophet (or an expert) is not without honor, etc.

Failed

NEARLY 1500 American business organizations failed last month. This broke all records for May, except the year 1922. When the creditors get a settlement with the May failures, they'll average about 50 cents on the dollar. Combined losses (excess of liabilities over assets) were less than 16 million dollars, or only 15 cents for every man, woman and child in the country. So don't lose any sleep about high commercial mortalities during May.

Prices

WHOLESALE prices of the 96 leading commodities dropped in May, reports Dun's Review. Not much—only three-fourths of 1 per cent—but it's a good sign, for it shows that the leaders are putting on the brakes. Prices have been rising too fast for safety. Only the fool tries to squeeze the golden eggs out of the goose.

The marriage of Miss Agnes Louise Vincent, daughter of Mrs. James Vincent and Mr. Edward Frederick Voigt took place at the home of the bride's mother last evening. Rev. Henry Faville officiated.

P. C. Jones, airbrake foreman of the Burlington at Grand Crossing will probably own the fastest motorboat of the Mississippi in this vicinity when he buys a three-two foot boat in Winona this week. He will drive the boat down on the river this week.

County Treasurer William Garbers, County Clerk Jolivet, Register of Deeds Andrew Thompson and his assistant George Salund motored to the Lud Christopherson farm in Burns Coulee, town of Bangor, yesterday afternoon where they assisted in a "barn raising." A large number of farmers was present to assist at the raising and the picnic which was part of the ceremony. The county officials were especially active in the picnic part of the program. The barn is a large 32x80 foot structure, one of the most modern of its kind in the county.

A FIVE-AND-EPISODE

By WILF T. AMES

About the only person in the five-and-ten who had any use for Lou Landers was Bobby McKay, the window dresser.

"Lissum, per," said Mame Sloan to the candy counter, "she's got a blimp bean, that one, 'cause she's had two years in Commercial High. Gee! Bess Niver lives on the same block with her, out in Greendale, 'n she says old man Landers ain't had a day's work since April. And look at her shoes! 'Whatcha know?'"

"Whatcha know?" agreed the Kaatz girl, raising up a snarl.

"I know," said Lou Landers, who was sitting on the bench in the five-and-ten, "but I ain't got no use for 'em. I made her put 'em on, but she won't wear 'em. OUT OUR WAY after they had him. All I kept thinking about was twenty-five hundred dollars—and you, because you aren't the kind of a girl to waste yourself on a five-and-ten window dresser, Lou.

Then at Lou's wisdom went a-kiln-morning. "Oh, Bobby," she trembled, "it will be wonderful of course, and we've oceans of time. But I—I wouldn't care—now—if you were always going to be a window trimmer—or a window washer; so there."

RICHLAND COUNTY GIRLS

RICHLAND CENTER, Wis.—Richland county's prettiest girl will be queen of the harvest at the annual county celebration at the fair grounds here on July 4. Sixteen local belles have already been entered in the contest, which promises to be a close one.

Besides the honor of winning the contest, many valuable gifts will go to the lucky fair ones. Girls whose names have been entered are: Caroline Barnes, Irene Keegan, Letha Stevens, Agnes Sippy, Richland Center; Norma Gunderson, Gotham; Ella Hafford, Joy Millum, Blanche Shucart, Viola; Julia Landinger, Yuba; Gladys Paulis, Twin Bluffs; Emma Janacek, Bloom; Lucy Janacek, Woodstock; Prudy Banker, Rothbridge; Camilla Ranskauf, Cazenovia; Myrtle McNartin, Willow; Nellie Howard, Ithaca.

GIRL HALTED IN WALK
NEW YORK.—The ambition of Miss Mary Roskos, 18 years old, of Clinton, N. J., to become a movie star and pal with western cowboys whom she "just loves," met a temporary setback in Newark when a policeman stopped her and returned her to her father, Andrew Roskos.

With a knapsack across her back and wearing her brother's knickers, she had started out to walk to Hollywood. She had torn a page from her school geography containing a map of the United States and had marked her route in pencil.

The girl had 25 cents but explained that she could easily earn $2 a day on her walk across the continent by working on farms just like a man.

CHICAGO.—The collector of a Pennsylvania system New York-Chicago train wreck Station Master J. B. Aiken said that a woman passenger had taken the wrong suitcase when she alighted from a Santa Fe train here and that this error was delaying the funeral of her husband, whose remains were in the valise.

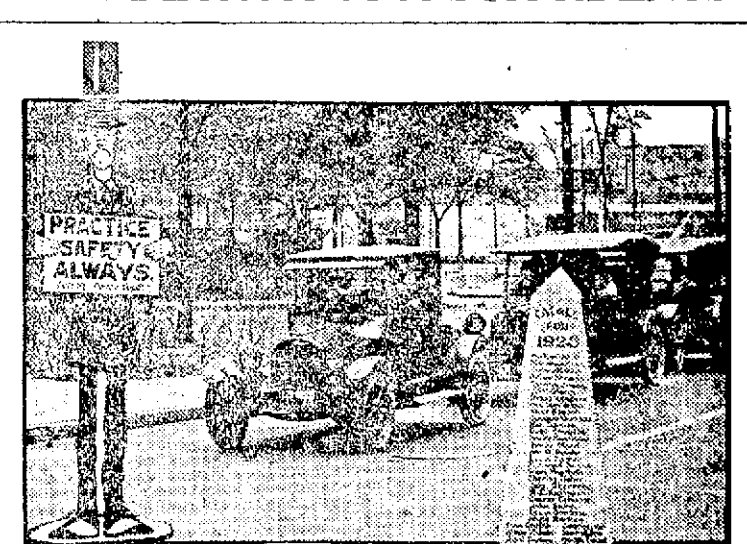

Meanwhile, a male passenger had turned in the suitcase containing the ashes and complained about the loss of his own.

The suitcase has been forwarded and the funeral will now go on.

INJURED JANESVILLE COP
AWARDED $200 ON CLAIM
JANESVILLE, Wis.—Leo Lennartz, Janesville policeman who was injured in an auto accident near Kaukauna last fall, while he was returning from a trip to Green Bay with a country prisoner, will be paid $200 by Rock County, according to a decision of the industrial commission, which upheld Lennartz' contention that his commission as a special deputy sheriff made him an agent of the county during his trip.

DISLOCATES HIS SHOULDER
WIELDING TOWEL AFTER BATH
LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Surgons at the receiving hospital had their first experience with Turkish towel accidents when Glen Northland, mortgage broker, was carried in with a dislocated shoulder. He said he threw it out of joint while drying himself briskly after a bath.

HOW DETROIT STOPS ACCIDENTS

By MAURICE HENLE
DETROIT.—Play safe on the highway or meet the undertaker! Your choice, Mr. Citizen: Eternal care or death.

That sums up the message brought home to Detroiters after a safety first of the most impressive safety-first campaign ever conducted by a municipality.

Detroit, the most notoriously congested city in the country, the automobile Mecca of the world is setting the pace to minimize the dangers which her industries created.

The shoe fits—Detroit is putting it on with a vengeance!

This intensive and rather spectacular campaign was absolutely necessary, people say here.

Unless you've actually been here, it will be almost impossible to realize the congestion. You get the same thrill crossing a Detroit street that you get riding a swift roller coaster. Your heart jumps up in your mouth, to borrow an old phrase, and when you get across safely, you are thrilled to the core, and give vent to a long, thankful Ah-h-h!

So when it was decided to start a permanent safety-first campaign, those in charge set about to do it right.

They erected before the city hall a white monument, and on it had inscribed the names of those killed in traffic accidents during the present year. A long list it is too.

Then they thought of the man who profits, but gets no pleasure from these fatalities—the undertaker. Life-size cardboard figures resembling what the public long has come to associate with the embalming profession were placed at vantage points along main thoroughfares.

Tall black stove-pipe hat, long black coat, black tie, black trousers, black shoes, black shoelaces and black gloves. Isn't he a cute, cheerful sort of individual to be grinning at passing motorists?

He's meant to be just what he is—death, says Inspector Harry Jackson, director of traffic and safety.

But Detroit went farther. Along the highways leading into the city, huge white crosses have been erected. They look like crosses over the graves in France. Only they are big enough to be seen a mile off. And on each is a legend: "John Smith, Age 23, Died Here in a Traffic Accident!" It gives the visitor something to think about.

But that wasn't all. A week before the campaign started the letters "R. U. C." four feet high, were painted on all sidewalks at crossings.

Everyone wondered. Then the word "Careful," was added. Posters, hundreds of thousands of them, bore another warning. Street cars were plastered with them and the Detroit News offered $2000 in prizes for best solutions of the traffic problem.

This campaign differs from all others ever held in that it will not last only a week. It extends over 52 weeks, and what already has been done in a general way, will be intensified in each section of the city.

"And what is the solution?" I asked Inspector Jackson.

"Education!" he answered promptly.

"We must educate the people to be careful. We will put in this regulation and that regulation, but how can you prevent accidents due entirely to people's carelessness? You never will prevent them."

"Many accidents are due merely to rank heedlessness. We have one ultimate hope. That is in the children of today. We are going into the schools and teaching safety first, and year by year, we will increase their knowledge."

"It is discouraging to see so many persons of the illiterate type driving. What can you do when you have people like these to deal with?"

"Last April we killed one a day. It was terrible. But that we can educate in a way, through everlasting persistence is shown because, during Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the first week of the campaign, not one person was killed. On the next day that record had to be spoiled, and how it was spoiled shows clearly just what a real problem we have."

"A street car was coming down the street slowly. The traffic was rather heavy and it couldn't travel fast."

"Then, halfway down the block a little girl darts across the street and before the motorman even saw her, because she was so small, the wheels beheld the tot."

"Bystanders wanted to lynch the motorman. But I'm not so certain that the parents of the child were the ones at fault."

"In other words, we have a human problem and all the iron-bound regulations won't prevent accidents, if the people persist in being criminally negligent."

LEARNED SCHOLARS MAKING FILMS FOR VISUAL EDUCATION

Reels Dealing With Nature
Study in Greatest Demand for Use in Schools

CHICAGO—Motion pictures, with the scenarios written by some of the most learned scholars of this age, are now carrying lessons in history, nature, health, sanitation, geography and citizenship to thousands of school children. The subjects are written, directed and filmed by the Society for Visual Education, and distributed to more than 10,000 schools and other institutions in the United States.

The society, founded and tutored by some of the most prominent educators and scientists in the country, today has an assortment of films that runs into the hundreds, each devoted to a special fundamental school subject.

"We have been immeasurably successful in the ideal which prompted our organization, that our plans have proved worthy and sound," said Prof. F. R. Moulton of the University of Chicago, secretary of the society and widely known scientist and inventor. "We believe the most hopeful remedy for existing conditions was in the wide extension of visual education. Psychologists have told us that 85 percent of our thinking is in terms of visual image. The experience of every one of us confirms the statement. Of all the various means of visual education, motion pictures are proving of the most import, and until but recently, the least used. They are the most important because life and the processes essential to life are dynamic and in motion—a static world is dead."

"The film work of the Junior and American Red Cross has been entrusted to us, and the International Health Board, the W. C. T. U., and numerous organizations, witnessing the results of this work, are calling upon us to film subjects for them. State departments of education, welfare organizations, civic and commercial associations, and particularly the schools, are cooperating. The former in a number of states are buying the films outright for state distribution, while others serve as distributors for films obtained from the society.

"Visual education has not trespassed upon the commercial movie, nor will it. Our work does not seek to amuse but to translate into realities what often are only words. Neither do we propose to displace text books, models, maps or any other educational means but to supplement them. Our subjects are filmed for universal instruction. What may be too advanced for a pupil today, three years hence will be just as good. Our subjects are made to fit the time of need, and our machines so built that any part of the picture can be still and a teacher dwell for any length of time on a salient feature. The camera having the advantage of position, it permits the pupil to observe from every angle."

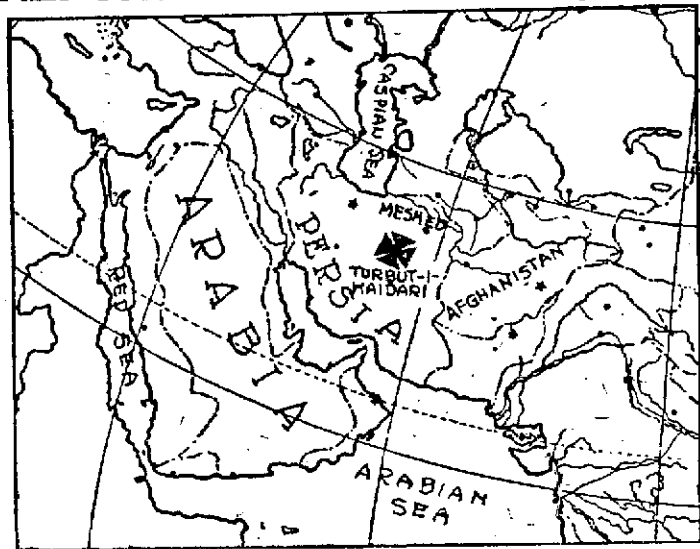

The reels dealing with the study of nature are in the greatest demand, according to Prof. Moulton.

All of the subjects are treated as systematically as books are written. Prof. Moulton explained, and in such a way as to supplement textbooks, laboratories and other means of giving instruction. Schools are becoming better equipped to handle the films, the society having evolved a composite and simple operating machine to assist in the work.

KLONDIKE REGION IS HARD HIT BY PROHIBITION LAW

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The long reach of the Volstead law which already has caused perturbation in many other faraway places on land and sea, now has brought within its embrace the Klondike region of Canada.

As a result the British government has appealed to treasury officials for relief for the British subjects there, and another complication has been added to the international controversy over features of the law which are held abroad to restrict the rights of foreign nationals.

Fanned off in a little corner of the north which has no practicable means of communication with the outside world except along the roads, canals and rivers of Alaska, the residents of the Klondike have found these avenues of approach completely barred to liquor shipments.

The Canadian government, which exercises a monopoly over liquor importations in the district, advised the home government at London as soon as this situation revealed itself, with the result that there have been several conferences between American and British representatives.

LOCAL CLINIC OPENS MONDAY AT CITY HALL

Do you feel tired? Have you lost your appetite? Have you a persistent cough or cold, vague pains in the chest and indigestion? Do you feel feverish in the afternoons? If you have any of these symptoms, attend the free chest clinic of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association to be held at La Crosse Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. These symptoms are the symptoms of tuberculosis in its early stage, and while they need not mean tuberculosis, it is wisest to be on the safe side and find out what they do mean.

"Tuberculosis discovered in the early stages yields readily to the proper treatment, but if allowed to become advanced, the cure is always long and tedious and often impossible," say clinic workers. "Not only those having symptoms of tuberculosis, but especially those having had prolonged contact with the disease are urged to attend the clinic. This disease is now known to be communicable, not hereditary, and it is therefore of the greatest importance that all persons in contact with it be examined frequently to make sure of the condition of their lungs."

Miss Vicky Scher, supervising nurse, and other workers in the health department, and Miss Mary Rozan, county nurse, have been active for weeks in a defensive campaign to bring to the clinic those families which have been visited by tuberculosis and thus exposed to infection.

The clinic is, however, not limited to contact cases, as the examination includes the heart, nose and throat, teeth and glands of the neck as well as the lungs.

Final arrangements for the free chest clinic, to be held at the city hall in La Crosse Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week have been completed and everything is in readiness for the examinations. The clinic will open promptly at 8:30 each morning and close at 4 o'clock. Three physicians of the Anti-Tuberculosis association staff, Drs. T. L. Hamilton, A. A. Plante and J. F. Shuman, will be the examiners.

A plan that all persons who can do so come early is made by the clinic workers. At several clinics recently it has been impossible, for lack of time, to examine all those who came for examinations, and it is hoped that by getting an early start each day everyone can be examined.

While the clinic is free to everyone, those especially urged to attend are people who have symptoms of tuberculosis, those having any trouble with their chests, including frequent coughing, colds, bronchitis and other chest diseases, pneumonia and other weight reducing and all persons who have ever had tuberculosis. No child under the age of 16 will be examined unless accompanied by a parent or some other person.

MILDRED NELSON BECOMES BRIDE OF JOHN PAUL JENKS

ON TUESDAY evening a handsome home marriage was solemnized when Rev. E. O. Vile performed the ceremony which united Miss Mildred Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nelson, 3401 Prospect street, to Mr. John Paul Jenks, son of Mrs. John L. Jenks.

Proceeding the taking of the marriage vows, Mr. Jenks sang "At Dawn's Dawn" accompanied on the piano by Miss Stella Nelson, who also played Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the entrance of the party.

The bride was attended by Miss Jeanette Oetzel as bridesmaid, and Miss Esther Nelson, sister of the bride, as maid of honor. Audrey and Helen Kuebler, cousins of the bride, were the flower girls.

Promptly at eight o'clock the bride party descended the stairs and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and the best man, Mr. Robert Jenks. The vows were taken before an artistic arrangement of palms and peonies. The flower girls stretched the ribbons for the approach of the bride party from the stairs to altar. They wore pink and white organdy frocks and carried baskets of roses and tiny daisies.

The bride wore a gown of white flax crepe, trimmed with all-over lace, and a veil which was held in place by a band of pearls. Miss Bruha's gown was of orchid crepe de chine and she wore a hat to match.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, only near relatives and friends being present. Mr. and Mrs. Fredel left on their honeymoon, returning to Madison and Chicago. On their return July 1, Mr. and Mrs. Fredel will be at home to their friends at 1542 Denton street.

The bride was gowned in ivory white satin with shadow lace trimmings. Her veil was of tulle held in place by orange blossoms. GOOD MINDS DEPEND ON GOOD MEALS

For His Fame as Novelist

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK—Has destiny placed you in the kitchen? Then you may with propriety pass the next premier or ambassador you meet with a cool stare. For the cook is mightier than the potentate and the wielder of the sauce pan rules the world.

Joseph Conrad, famous English novelist, now on his first visit to the United States, admits as much. As he puts it, "Good cooking is a moral agent."

As is to be suspected, Mrs. Joseph Conrad is to blame.

While the novelist was creating Lord Jim and other famous characters his wife was plying him with stuffed goose, currant jelly and plquant horsradish sauce. And now to her ministrations Conrad attaches not only his own physical well-being but a deep political significance embracing all climes—and all cooks.

"The worst cooking in the world," he points out, "is to be found along the west coast of Africa. There they drench everything in palm oil. To this pernicious use of palm oil I attribute the exceeding sloth and superstition of the inhabitants."

Indian Dyspeptic

"In like manner, the somber and excessive ferocity of the North American Indians may be accounted for, in that as a race they suffered from perpetual indigestion. The noble red man was a mighty hunter, but his wives had not mastered the art of conscientious cookery. And the consequences were deplorable."

"The Seven Nations around the Great Lakes and the horse tribes of the plains were but one vast prey to raging dyspepsia. The noble red men were great warriors, great curriers, great masters of outdoor pursuits, but the domestic life of their wigwams was clouded by the morose irritability which follows the consumption of ill-cooked food. Victims of gloomy imaginings, they lived in abject submission to the wiles of the medicine men."

The novelist sees in this a deep lesson to modern civilization.

Joseph Conrad's Favorite Dishes

Mrs. Joseph Conrad has issued a book of recipes with which she has promoted the well-being of her novelist husband. Here are two of the dishes of which he is especially fond, she says:

HOT POT
Take about two and a half pounds of best end of neck of mutton and after removing the bones (which will make mutton stock) cut the meat in two. Have two sound turnips and two carrots cut into dice and one large onion finely sliced. Put the vegetables in a pile in the center of a deep sauce pan. Place the meat around and add pepper and salt. Pour in a small breakfast cup of cold water and cover the whole with slices of partly cooked boiled potato. Spread liberally with some good beef dripping and cover with the sauce pan lid. Put into a good oven and allow two and a half hours for it to cook. Then remove the lid and leave to brown. It is best served in the sauce pan with a white serviette wrapped around it.

SAUSAGE ROLLS
Prick one pound of best pork sausages and bake in the oven for twenty minutes on a flat dish. Cut each sausage lengthwise, roll round each half a thin rasher of raw bacon, put into a paste as for meat pie, wrap in hot buttered paper and bake for another twenty minutes.

vendor of patent medicines, preys mainly upon the races of Anglo Saxon stock," he points out, "and these are also great warriors, great orators, mighty hunters, great masters of outdoor pursuits."

"No virtues will avail for happiness if the righteous art of cooking be neglected by the national conscience. We owe much to the faithful ministrations of our sages, but a sane view of life is, after all, elaborated mainly in the kitchen—the kitchen of the small house, the abode of the preponderant majority of the people."

"Good cooking, by rendering easy the processes of digestion, promotes the serenity of mind, the graciousness of thought and that indulgent view of our neighbors' failings which is the only genuine form of optimism."

Conrad's extensive cruises about the world have convinced him that no nation is superior in the art of cookery, he says. Men are on the whole the better cooks, but it is the women who rise to the pinnacles of the art, he concludes.

WOMAN SURRENDERS $100,000 FORTUNE TO GAIN DIVORCE

Mrs. Ford Wilson Forfeits Money Left by Father Rather Than Live With Husband

CHICAGO. — Preferring untrammeled wedded bliss to $100,000, Mrs. Hazel Ford Wilson divorced her husband and gave up that sum, conditionally provided for her in the will of her father, it was averred in a bill filed in the Superior court, asking the court to indicate what disposition should be made of the money.

Leaves Trust Fund

Charles E. Ford, her father, late president of the Kenwood National bank died two years ago, and in his will, which disposed of a $1,000,000 estate, created a trust fund of $100,000 for the benefit of Mrs. Wilson, and ordered she should be paid $4,000 annually from the fund, on the condition, however, that it should be paid only so long as she remained married and lived with her husband Joseph S. Wilson.

The bill, filed by Attorney J. T. Borden is the name of Eugene E. Ford, Mrs. Wilson's brother, and Emil C. Wetten, as executors of the estate, charged that Mrs. Wilson, since her father's death, has not lived with her husband.

Wins Decree In West

Two weeks ago, it was learned, according to the bill, that Mrs. Wilson had obtained a divorce in Nevada.

Since the will carried no provision as to the disposition of Mrs. Wilson's bequest in the case she violated the provision, the executors seek to obtain a decree authorizing them to distribute the sum in some way. The will provided that the residuary estate should be divided between Mr. Ford's grandchildren, and it is expected Mrs. Wilson's forfeited portion will also be diverted to them.

MONROE TO HAVE KU KLUX BRANCH SOON, IS REPORT

MONROE, Wis., Activity of Ku Klux Klan organizers is reported here and a unit is said to be in process of formation. FOREST FIRES RAGING IN IRON RIVER WILD LANDS

IRON RIVER, Wis.—Forest fires are reported raging near Port Winsa, in wild lands where there are few if any settlers. Some valuable timber is being destroyed, it is reported, but no settlers have been threatened. A fire is also reported near Lenoire. Volunteer fire fighters from Iron River are in the district.

FATE OF TEACHERS' PENSION LAW NOW IN HANDS OF SENATE

MADISON, Wis.—The fate of the state teachers retirement system now rests with the state senate.

The house on Thursday gave final passage to Assemblyman Robert Caldwell's bill which in time would wipe out the system. The bill is now before the senate for action.

The measure provides that the system continue as it is now but provides that no new teachers can come under its provisions.

There are now about 18,000 teachers under the retirement system. It costs the state about $1,000,000 a year. The retirement fund has grown until it now has about $12,000,000.

Things could be worse. Just suppose now that you had to father your lawns before cutting the grass?

BAR ASSOCIATION RESENTS ATTACKS ON CONSTITUTION

American Constitution Stood for 133 Years and Will Prevail Says Speaker

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Now, at the very apogee of the achievements of the Constitution of the United States when its blessings are apparent to the most casual observer, it is being most bitterly attacked from many quarters, condemned and even executed as an instrument of oppression and injustice. R. E. L. Saner, of Dallas, Tex., Chairman of the Citizenship Committee of the American Bar Association told the Tennessee Bar Association here.

"The Constitution that is being attacked is the one under which this government has endured for 133 years, has grown in wealth, power, extent of territory and intelligence of its people beyond the wildest dreams of its founders," Mr. Saner said. "No other people since the dawn of time has been as happy. Under this constitution we have survived the greatest civil war in history. We have fought four great foreign wars and carried them to triumph and a just and victorious peace, we have become the admiration and envy of the whole civilized world.

"But from many quarters it is being assailed. The criticisms come from various classes. From below, the anarchists, who would tear down all government, assail it with open violence. This is the least of our danger, however. We can cope with the anarchists.

"There is another element, the parlor socialists, who combine with half-baked educators in a more insidious propaganda. Many of them are people of wealth and position, some of them with humanitarian ideals, some with simply lunatic notions, but they have the power to invade our schools and in our schools, all the way from the first grade, up to the highest collegiate institutions, we find here and there a half-baked professor who insidiously instills into the minds of our youth these socialistic ideas.

"They would infuse into the mind of America the same ideals of government that prevail in Russia. They are filling our schools with text books that contain this propaganda. It is so elusive, so skillful, that it is hard to reach.

"But above all, the chief danger lies in men highly placed, men in the Senate and House, lawyers who should know their constitution and its fruits. These demand that the safeguards of the Constitution, the interpretation by the Supreme Court, should be withdrawn; that the legislative branch should be sole judge of the constitutionality of its acts and their conformity to the Constitution. The moment this is done the judiciary and the executive would be prostrate at the foot of the majority in congress. But they even go farther than that. They demand that the decisions of the court shall be submitted to a vote of the people upon constitutional questions.

"The American Bar Association has started a work of education, realizing these dangers. A committee is working through every organization that will assist, through the great fraternal and beneficial organizations through women's clubs and the League of Women Voters, through patriotic societies and above all, through the American Legion.

"A close scrutiny will be made of the text books used in our schools and colleges to eliminate this dangerous and treasonous matter. In this way we hope to check the propaganda. It is the duty of every one of us to reveal by every means within our power these assaults upon our government."

A Famous Beauty

For 40 years—due to a French-type clay

By Edna Wallace Hopper

For two score years I have been a famous beauty. For 32 years a stage star. Yet I still play young girls' parts. And I look as young and winsome as I did when I began.

The reason lies in beauty helps for which I searched the world. I have supplied them to many others, and they secured like results. I know them to be the best helps in existence. So, by countless requests, I have now arranged so all who wish may get them.

A New White Clay

Famous beauties have for ages used some facial clay. French experts first taught me to use it, many years ago. Then all clays were crude and muddy, as many are today. Since then science has found ways to multiply their benefits.

The clay I now use is based on 20 years of scientific study. It is that rare clay which experts proved to bring the maximum results. It is a refined clay, with the useless mud removed. It is white and clean and dainty. It embodies several added factors which bring multiplied results.

This super-clay, which I call my White Youth Clay, will bring to any one new ideas of what a clay can do. New Bloom at Once.

New beauty and new bloom come quickly to the user of Youth Clay. It purges the skin of all that clogs it—the causes of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes.

It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is that rosy afterglow which so amazes and delights.

It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Thus many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. And my smooth, baby-like complexion shows what constant use will do.

One Must Use Clay

Every girl and woman should use clay in justice to herself. No one can look her best without it. None can keep her bloom and contour, as I have. Users of clay stand out in any crowd.

But the clay of today is this new-type clay—my White Youth Clay—which science has perfected.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Clay is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream, which should follow the clay. Also my Facial Youth, my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

I urge every girl and woman to use these matchless helps. Let them bring what they brought to me and mine. Sold by Hoescher Bros., La Crosse, Wis., and leading toilet counters everywhere.

GERMAN CAPITAL SEEKS INVESTMENT IN THE FAR EAST

Trade Leaders Seeking Control of Coal, Iron and Oil in China

LONDON, May 26.—German trade magnates are seeking control of the coal, iron and oil of China, according to information supplied to the British Board of Trade from trustworthy sources.

The Stinnes interests have $2,000,000 already invested in coal concessions in Ho-nan, Hu-nan, and near Pukow. This group has found oil in Che-kiang, and is interested also in coal near Hang-chow. The big Siemens corporation of Germany has $4,000,000 invested in coal interests in Szechuan, Ho-nan, Hu-nan and near Hang-chow. In Szechuan this company has something like $1,000,000 invested in coal and iron concessions. Thirty-eight German engineers are now waiting in Shanghai for instructions to proceed to various centers.

The pressure of the new economic conditions imposed upon Germany by the results of the great war and the difficulties arising out of the payment of reparations, has prompted German capitalists to seek a profitable outlet for their capital in the east. In pre-war days the main interests of Germany lay in the west. Many of the western markets are now more or less closed to her, and reports are accumulating of schemes for the extension of the commercial interests of Germany in Russia, China and other eastern markets.

CALL ATTENTION TO NEW RULE AFFECTING WOMEN WORKERS

MADISON, Wis.—The industrial commission issued the following statement regarding laws pertaining to hours of women passed at this session of the legislature:

Two laws of vital interest to employers of women have been passed at this session of the legislature. Chapter 117, which is already in effect, fixes the hours of labor for women in hotels at 10 per day and 55 per week for day work and 9 per day and 54 per week for night work. Night work is defined as any work between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m.

Chapter 155, which goes into effect September 1, reduces the hours of women in general, outside of hotels, to 9 per day and 50 per week. The limitations placed on night work by order of the commission still exist. No woman may be employed in any factory or laundry after 6 p. m. or before 6 a. m. In other kinds of employment a woman may work at night, but if she works on more than one day in the week after 6:30 p. m. she may not work more than 8 hours on any day during that week or more than 48 hours during the entire week.

PROGRESSIVE WARNS SOLONS AGAINST ANY INCREASE IN TAXES

Letters from Mauthe to Governor Blaine and Senator La Follette are Made Public

DECLARES PROMISES TO THE PEOPLE HAVE NOT BEEN KEPT

Progressives Promised to do
Away With Property Tax

MADISON.—Two letters from William Mauthe, La Follette progressive leader in the Fox River valley, warning that the people of Wisconsin are aroused over attempts to increase taxation, were made public last night by Senator W. A. Tamm, Fond du Lac. The letters were addressed to Robert M. La Follette, Jr. and to Governor Blaine.

"I cannot help but send a note of warning to you about the possible results of the increasing tax legislation now going on in Madison," Mr. Mauthe wrote. "The people generally are aroused over attempts to increase taxation, and the fact that they were in two years ago what they are now is a warning to you. The progressive legislation in Madison is a warning to you."

"It is true that statements are made by Governor Blaine and others to the effect that the intent is to shift the burden from those who are not able to pay to those who are best able to pay, but in reading the proposed bill we cannot find where there is any guarantee that the tax will be made lighter on those who are not able to pay."

Remember Not Kept
"If I remember right, we, as progressives, at one time promised that the personal property tax would soon be abolished altogether. I have often regretted that we failed to keep that promise. Now we promise to lighten the load on real estate, but we don't promise for it in the bill."

"My suggestion to Senator Tamm is that unless the bill positively provides for a reduction on real estate or other taxes in proportion to the increase, it will be better for the progressive movement if no tax bill would be passed at all. This seems to be the sentiment of most sincere progressives in this territory and I hope that those at the La Follette campaign will see the danger and give due consideration to what the rank and file in the progressive movement think about these increasing taxes without definite proportionate reductions."

VIENNA HAS 73,000 DOGS

VIENNA.—From a census which has just been taken in Vienna it appears that the city has 73,000 dogs, or twice as many as in peace time. At first sight it would seem remarkable that so many people in this overcrowded city should be keeping dogs.

One of the principal reasons is the increase in the number of burglaries and thefts, which has led many households to keep dogs for protection. Watchmen with police dogs are employed to guard the great Central Cemetery from which a number of bodies have been stolen.

NEGRO VETS TO HAVE ATTENDANTS OF OWN RACE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A complete negro personnel will man the veteran hospital at Tuskegee, Ala., Director Illius said Thursday in a letter to President Harding. The question of whether negro physicians should make up the staff of the negro institution has been the subject of bitter controversy.

Mr. Illius told the president that it had been necessary for the bureau to work slowly in gathering the staff, because I have always felt that it was your desire that we under no circumstances not colored personnel on duty there who did not have the professional attainments to thoroughly handle the work, feeling that the colored people desire, as we do, that the disabled colored veterans receive treatment equal to that of any of their comrades."

He added, however, that the staff had almost been completed.

MOTOR CARS OPEN REMOTE SECTIONS OF THE FAR EAST

American Automobiles Threaten to Supplant Railroads as Means of Travel

BEIRUT, Syria.—By The Associated Press.—American automobiles threaten to supplant railroads in many parts of the near east. Throughout Syria, Palestine, Mesopotamia and in certain parts of Transjordan and Arabia, fleets of American motor cars now link up remote cities and towns and afford the traveler a cheaper and more comfortable journey than by rail.

In some of the sparsely settled and scattered regions of the Mediterranean and interior countries, Yankee motor cars have blazed the way to places which heretofore were accessible only by long and tiresome journeys on donkeys and camels. In Syria and Palestine 90 per cent of all automobiles in use are of American make.

American tourists to the Holy Land are now able to make the trip from Beirut to Jerusalem by automobile over excellent roads. Before the advent of the American car the 200 mile trip from Beirut to the Holy City occupied nearly a week; today it can be done in ten hours.

Americans at home who think of Palestine as it is depicted in the Bible, a pastoral land untouched by modern life, would perhaps be surprised to find the whole region covered by a great arterial network of splendid roads and fast moving motor cars. The wooden plough, the hand scythe, and the other primitive implements which for thousands of years were used to make this land fertile and productive, have given way to modern American agricultural machinery. In the larger productive areas the camel and the ox-cart have been supplanted by time-saving power tractors.

In the old days before the war it took four days to journey from Jerusalem to Nazareth. Today it can be done in four hours. Along the old tracks the camel, heavily laden, still wends his way, never so much as turning his head at the foot of the caravan of automobiles.

The long-cherished idea of a quick land route from the Mediterranean to Bagdad and India also has been brought within the realm of practical experience by the development of a motor car service between Beirut and Haifa and Haifa and Damascus. This route brings Bagdad within sixty hours' land journey of the Mediteranean. The course takes one through Damascus, then across the Syrian desert to Ramadje and on to Bagdad, a distance of 590 miles, with only one stop halfway between Damascus and Ramadje at Rutba Wells, the only available water source throughout that stretch of desert.

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Thomas McCarthy, 60 years old and claiming to be the only surviving member of the famous Canadian Princess Pat regiment in the United States, was lodged in the city jail here on Tuesday. Too much moonshine put him in such condition that he was unable to talk coherently, police said. McCarthy enlisted in the crack regiment in 1914 and served throughout the world war.

TAX TANGLE WREAKS HAYOC WITH PLANS TO ADJOURN SESSION

Legislators See Possibility of Work Continuing Into Next Month

MADISON, Wis.—The tax tangle has so muddled affairs in the legislature that the time of adjournment is again a matter of conjecture. Most legislators are still counting on completion of their work by June 30, but many see possibility of the session continuing in July.

By throwing over consideration of the Public Income tax bill until next Wednesday, the upper house has delayed final disposition of the tax issue. Action on other matters is being delayed pending the outcome of the fight against the remaining revenue bill.

Senators are wondering, they say, whether the assembly will concur in appropriation bills which do not carry surplus amendments, providing the tax bill is killed. Should the lower house refuse concurrence then the legislature would be tied up on financial matters, with a special session spoken of as the most logical way out.

If a tax bill is finally passed on next Wednesday, most members believe that the work of the session can be closed up in a hurry and adjournment taken before the Fourth of July. A few members of each house would then remain for two weeks to clean up routine and receive messages from the governor.

FASHION'S BEST, 60 YEARS AGO

Gives us kids the "punch."

There are lots of folks looking for "the punch"—and the surest way to get it is to eat the right things for breakfast.

The "Mapl-Flakers" meet every morning at the breakfast table. Each one eats a big bowlful of Mapl-Flake and starts out the day feeling fit.

Mapl-Flake is 25% Bran. It is more than nourishment—it is a whole wheat flake with all the bran left in. There is enough bran to make a natural, harmless laxative, yet you have the satisfaction of eating tasty, appetizing, nourishing breakfast food.

Nourishment and bran combined—good eating while you "take your bran" without knowing it. No wonder there are so many "Mapl-Flakers." Join them—a package from your grocer entitles you to membership. The dues are small.

ESCAPED MICHIGAN CONVICT STILL AT LARGE; SHOT 2 MEN

Marquette Prison Lifer Surrounded in Swamp; Believed to be Wounded

ESCANABA, Mich.—One deputy has been shot dead, a state trooper has been wounded and George Natchoff, Marquette prison lifer, who escaped a week ago, is still at large, defying the efforts of a posse 200 strong to capture him.

Armed with a revolver and plentifully supplied with ammunition, Natchoff has been surrounded in a desolate swamp near here for thirty hours. Several attacks by members of the posse have been met by a well-directed fire from the dense thickets in which Natchoff was concealed.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Curran was killed Wednesday by a bullet from Natchoff's revolver. Thursday Lieut. J. C. Cleghorn, of the state police, was shot through the abdomen, escaping death because a heavy belt buckle diverted the course of the bullet.

Authorities directing the man hunt believe Natchoff has become crazed by the heat and ravages of insects in the swamp. Blood-spattered saplings they say indicate that he has been wounded.

Plans have been laid for a general flanking movement late Friday. With every able-bodied man in the vicinity taking part, the posse, several hundred strong, will close in on every side of the four mile swamp.

George Biochas, who escaped with Natchoff was captured Wednesday.

BEES FILL CAR BUT DRIVER GOES UNSCATHED

RICE LAKE, Wis.—Queens will always be too high for R. K. Meeker, Milwaukee insurance agent, as the result of an exciting half mile automobile ride here.

While driving a Sedan car along State Highway No. 11, and enjoying the scenery, a Queen bee flew in the open car window, followed by a swarm of hundreds of bees.

The bees lit all over the driver and the noise of his car was drowned out by the buzzing of the insects.

For a half mile he drove his car to the limit of its speed, but to no avail. At last he esped a boy coming from a swim with a bathing suit in his hand. The driver snatched the wet suit and beat the queen and her followers from his car. He was not stung once.

PACKET SUCCEEDS IN REACHING ST. PAUL ON ITS SECOND TRIP

Harry G. Drees Stops Over But a Few Hours in Up-river Metropolis

ST. PAUL, Minn.—The steamer Harry G. Drees sailed from St. Paul early Friday on its return to St. Louis Mo., to mark the season's first round trip for passengers carrying craft on the Upper Mississippi.

The Drees docked here late Thursday night after a strenuous journey of 180 miles from Hastings, because of low water and sand bars. The early start down river was to make up for lost time.

It was the first time in seven years that passenger service between St. Paul and St. Louis had been resumed. Despite navigation difficulties encountered, the Drees will return to St. Paul, according to Harry G. Drees, president of the company operating the boat bearing his name.

"I've been on the river for about thirty-five years," said Captain Ed Winters, "but this is the toughest job I ever drew. Never in my experience has the Mississippi been so low."

The revenue from the manufacturers' excise tax on automobiles, motorcycles, and accessories amounted to $16,708,428 in May, 1923, as against $10,408,879 in May, 1922. The tax on jewelry, watches, clocks, opera glasses, etc., yielded $1,467,640 in May, 1923, as against $1,239,655 in May, 1922.

Receipts from income taxes amounted to $72,560,881 in May, 1923, as against $49,236,230 in May, 1922. The tobacco taxes yielded $27,221,008 in May, 1923, as against $24,179,970 in May, 1922.

MARINETTE HAS WATER FAMINE AS MAIN BREAKS

MARINETTE, Wis.—The breaking of a water main by a drunken workman in the river has permitted stagnant water from the Sawyer-Goodman mill pond to enter the mains and Marinette is having a water famine. A few pumps and artesian wells are furnishing water for the city, a steady stream of people visiting the artesian well on the former residence site of the late Senator Stephenson. A diver has been unable to locate the break as yet and no relief is in sight for several days.

MANIAC STAYS "IT" IN GAME OF "CHASE ME" WITH COPS

CLEVELAND, O.—A maniac, believed crazed by heat, still played "You Chase Me" with a squad of police in Edgewater Park here Thursday after being "it" all night. With large bouquets of flowers in each hand, the young man darted in and out among bushes and driveways shouting to policemen from behind corners and then disappearing again.

THIS ILLINOIS MAN'S WIFE ELOPES WITH HER FATHER

FREELPORT, Ill.—Mrs. Orla Lutz, wife of a young farmer near Shannon, Ill., who disappeared with her twin babies, an automobile, and various household articles, last Tuesday, is believed to be speeding westward accompanied by her father, Edward Boyd, said to be an amateur hypnotist. Lutz said his wife took $500 in cash with her.

"TEMPTATION" IS HUMAN

There is a human quality about "Temptation" which should crowd the Majestic Theater during the period of that picture's stay. The premiere showing occurred last night and the production will continue to be shown for today and Saturday.

Many of the pictures we have reviewed recently have depended too much upon the element of thrill, all other factors being subordinated. In "Temptation," however, while punishment incidents are to be found, they are merely the background for the unfolding of a simple, human story.

The central characters are Marjorie Baldwin and her husband Jack, portrayed by Eva Novak and Bryant Washburn.

These young people find themselves with more wealth than ever they can disperse. The result is a bit of character analysis which makes "Temptation" a gem of purest ray serene.

BUSY RAILROAD STATION BUILT FOR NEW PICTURE

A big two-story frame railroad station was constructed in Hollywood and taken in sections to an isolated spot on the Southern Pacific railroad, where it was set up and utilized as a regular way station in filming the big railroad scenes in Emory Johnson's production of "Westbound Limited," now showing at the Strand.

The station, with a full force of employees, including station master and telegraph operator, was operated in conjunction with the special train that was chartered by Producer Johnson in filming the big railroad episodes in the story.

"PARDON MY GLOVE" A COMEDY. INTERNATIONAL NEWS FUN FROM THE PRESS

AT-THE RIVOLI TODAY

Thomas H. Ince's latest production, "The Sunshine Trail," is now running at the Rivoli theater. "The Sunshine Trail" is a fast-moving western comedy-drama featuring Douglas MacLean in the role of a cowboy-doughboy who tries to live up to a motto: "Scatter sunshine on your way; do something good every day."

Some of the incidents in "The Sunshine Trail" are highly dramatic, among them a bank robbery which the doughboy foils by giving chase to the bank bandits on a motorcycle. MacLean gives local sleuths a good suggestion in the way he overcomes a car full of desperate bank thieves. There are endless amusing complications in the story which keeps one always on tenterhooks—whatever tenterhooks may be—and the picture provides an excellent evening's entertainment.

Included in the cast, in addition to Douglas MacLean, are Edith Roberts, Little Marie, Frances Dano, Josephine Sedgwick, William Courtwright, Barney Furey, Rex Cherryman and Albert Hart.

COUNTRY'S PAYROLLS SHOW HEAVY LOSSES COMPARED WITH 1920

Total Pay of Wage Earners in Nation Reduced by Over Seven Billion in Two Years

NEW YORK.—Collapse of the last boom reduced the total pay of the wage and salary earners of the United States, $7,342,000,000, according to figures made public today by the National Bureau of Economic Research, Inc., of this city.

From the year of prosperity to the year of depression, annual payroll shrank from $39,888,000,000 to $22,600,000,000.

These figures are taken from the advance sheets of a report entitled "Employment Hours and Earnings in Prosperity and Depression." In this report the bureau embodies the details of facts discovered in its study of "Business Cycles and Unemployment," recently completed for President Harding's conference on unemployment.

The figures covering payments for wages and salaries in each industry have been compiled by the bureau for each quarter, thus permitting an examination of the progress of the boom, its culmination, collapse, and the beginning of recovery. They show that total payments for wages and salaries to all employees by all enterprises of whatever size, dropped from $10,472,000,000 in the third quarter of 1920 (peak of boom), to $7,743,000,000 in the first quarter of 1922 (trough of depression), or a maximum cyclical decline of 26.16 percent.

The industries showing the most striking declines in amounts paid to employees were first, factories, machine tools, metal products, vehicles and miscellaneous goods; second, steam railways; and third, concerns engaged in the extraction of minerals.

Enterprises rendering public and professional service actually increased their payments to employees. Concerns classified in the hand trades, finance or retail merchandising reduced their total wage bills but slightly.

Although there are numerous exceptions the average employee, when working for the large concern, puts in fewer hours at higher pay an hour, 1.47 in return for this extra compensation he sacrifices much of the security of employment which he would have if he worked for a small enterprise.

The average earnings in 1920 of persons who in that year worked in plants employing over 100 workers, was $1,744. In 1921, because of unemployment, their earnings had fallen to $1,112, a loss of $632. Those persons employed in enterprises having fewer than 21 employees received $1,121 each in 1920, but in 1921 their earnings had declined to $1,077, a diminution of $44. Workers employed in concerns of intermediate size earned on the average $1,354 in 1920 and $1,222 in 1921.

Female employees in general earn about three-fourths as much as males.

The business depression of 1921 caused a material decline in rates of pay an hour actually worked only in the fields of agriculture, manufacturing, mining, and steam railways.

The average rates of pay an hour in various industries cover a wide range—the highest figure in 1921 being 76 cents an hour in finance, and the lowest rate being 25 cents an hour in agriculture. The average for all industries at the close of 1921 was 51 cents per hour.

THE HILL-TOWNS OF AMERICA

Imagine all our American towns and cities as hills rising from a level plain—hills of endeavor.

The inhabitants living on the sides of these hills, their altitude depending on their worth-whileness in the community; the poor and shiftless and indolent clustering around the base and struggling a little way up the sides—the more able they are, the higher they get up the hillsides.

At the bottom are the people who never read a newspaper, or anything else.

As you go up the hill, you begin to reach newspaper readers, and as you go higher the people get better and read better newspapers, and read more intelligently.

And as you approach the top you reach the people who are the leaders in thought and action in that community—the heads of its businesses and the leaders of its professions. They read the newspapers, but they demand something more than newspapers. They demand The Digest.

You can go as high as you like after that, you will not get above The Digest.

So all the upper section of any community are newspaper readers. And the upper section of the newspaper readers are Digest readers.

On the upper reaches of these hill-towns are the men and women who have got somewhere, whose positions are so high, whose contacts are so many that they are multiple customers, buying goods or influencing buying in many capacities for their homes, for their offices and for their factories.*

The upper half of the hill-towns of America is composed of Digest readers. As they think, act, and buy, so goes the community.

Red Sox Drop Three Out of Four to Fohls

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Chicago took the final game of the series from Philadelphia on Thursday, 6 to 1. A rally in the fourth that netted four runs and drove Bob Hooper off the hill, was the turning point of the contest. "ATHLETIC TWINS" AT WISCONSIN U GET SHEEPSKINS

MADISON, Wis. — The "Athletic Twins" are gone. Rolfe Williams and Gus Tebell left here Thursday after completing a four year course at the university. They will probably be known among the athletes of the University of Wisconsin as ever had. They have played together on Badger baseball, football and basketball teams. Williams was rated as one of the speediest backs in the conference and Tebell starred at end. Williams captained the baseball and football teams in his senior year and Tebell led the court men during the last season when they tied with Iowa for the Big Ten title. They have been in the same classes during their university career and both are excellent students. Williams becomes head coach at Milliken university, Decatur, Ill. Tebell will not coach. He has accepted a position in Ithaca, N. Y.

LEADS OF BOTH NEW YORK CLUBS CUT AS SCENES ARE AGAIN ABOUT TO BE SHIFTED

CHICAGO, Ill. — By The Associated Press. — With the scenes again about to be shifted in the two major leagues, the eastern National league clubs having finished their current western travels and the western teams of the American being about ready to wind up their eastern perambulations, the west, on the whole, has done the best. The leads of both New York clubs have been cut. Brooklyn has been battered into the second division and Philadelphia has failed to take advantage of its opportunities to usurp the Yankees. The Giants won five of fourteen games and their margin was cut from ten to three and one-half games.

In the next series New York takes on Boston Friday and then Philadelphia comes along, both stopping in Brooklyn, while here. The Pirates managed to hold on Thursday by defeating Boston 2 to 1 in a battle in which the veteran Babe Adams had the better of Jess Barnes, the Giant cast-off. Possession of fourth went definitely to Chicago, which again defeated St. Louis 4 to 0, making it four straight losses for the Cardinals.

Two American league clubs to benefit more than expected in the last swing were Washington and Chicago. The Senators at home and the White Sox on the road. The White Sox again trounced the grating Philadelphia 6 to 1, while Washington kept Cleveland from taking advantage of the opportunity created, 6 to 0.

St. Louis beat Boston in the other game, 3 to 1. Branch Rickey juggled the batting order of the St. Louis Nationals in the hope of shaking off the jinx, but Tony Kauffmann's great pitching and some timely hitting by the Chicago Cubs, made Rickey's efforts useless, as his club met its fourth successive defeat. George Grantham of the Chicago Cubs pulled away from Sammy Bohne of the Cincinnati Reds in the race for stolen bases honors. George swiped his fourteenth in the game against St. Louis, while Sammy was idle.

Bob Hasty, of the Philadelphia Americans was driven to the showers by the Chicago White Sox in the fourth inning, when four runs were registered. This was a safe lead for Little Mike Cvangros, the only southpaw of Manager Gleason's club, and with some sparkling fielding especially by Harry Hooper behind him, Connie Mack's rushing efforts were turned back in the final game. Eddie Collins, who is being counted out by a number of critics, continues to put the old pep in the game. He begged another home run, the second of the series against the Athletics. Willie Kamm, the $100,000 beauty with the White Sox, is leading the league in two-base hits. Willie cracked out his twenty-second two-baser Thursday.

St. Louis loses fourth straight game by 4 to 0 score. ST. LOUIS. — Hitting opportunity in the sixth and seventh innings, Chicago shut out St. Louis, 4 to 0, in the first game of their series here Thursday afternoon. Changes made in the batting order failed to save the Cardinals from their fourth successive defeat. Score: R H E Chicago, 4; St. Louis, 0. Kaufman, 1; O'Farrell, 1; Burfoot and Clemens.

Pirates 2; Braves 1. PITTSBURGH. — Boston ended its western invasion on Thursday by losing to Pittsburgh, 2 to 1, in a pitchers' battle between the veteran Babe Adams and Jess Barnes. Adams scored the first run in the third inning on his double, an out and Corey's infield single. The Braves tied the score in the first half of the ninth, but the Pirates won on their half on Traynor's triple and Grims' sacrifice fly. Score: R H E Boston, 1; Pittsburgh, 2. Barnes and Smith; Adams and Schmidt.

Questions. ONE — If a fielder throws his glove at a batted ball, but misses it, what is the penalty? TWO — When can a base runner, who has held his base on a fly ball, start to advance? THREE — When an improper batsman hits safely, and the mistake is discovered in time, who is out? FOUR — What happens when the umpire is struck by a batted ball after a play has been made on it? FIVE — What happens when a base runner is struck by a batted ball?

Answers. ONE — There is no penalty if the fielder fails to hit the ball with his glove. TWO — The base runner can advance the moment the ball strikes the umpire's hands. THREE — The proper batsman is always the man who is called out. FOUR — The ball is considered in play if it hits the umpire after some fielder has made a play on the ball. FIVE — The base runner is out, the batsman entitled to first and no runners can advance unless forced. If a play has been made on the ball before it strikes the runner it is considered in play.

Puzzling Plays

By Billy Evans

THE PLAY
Batter hits ball on ground down the first base line. The ball is two or three feet foul and the umpire, believing that it will remain in foul territory, calls, "Foul ball."

Just before reaching first base, the ball either takes a curve or strikes something that causes it to roll in, and it finally stops on fair ground just before passing first base.

It is apparent to everybody, the umpire included, that the hit is a fair ball. The umpire had previously ruled it a foul ball. When he so ruled the batsman stopped running as did the other base runners, there being men on second and third at the time. Should the umpire change his ruling to fair ball or hold to his original ruling of foul ball?

THE INTERPRETATION
The umpire erred in calling the play too soon. He should have waited until the ball came to rest. The umpire in calling the ball foul, suspended play, since the batsman who hit the ball stopped running, as did the other runners who were moving up on the hit.

Often during the baseball season umpires call a ball fair that the crowd believe is foul and vice versa. In the case stated it was apparent the umpire had erred in calling the ball foul, yet there was nothing for him to do but stick to his original position.

After having suspended play by calling the ball foul, it would have been manifestly unfair to the team at bat to change to fair ball, and permit the batsman to be retired.

In all fairness the umpire in such a case should stick to his first ruling, foul ball, even though the world knew it was fair.

WABASH SCREEN DOORS NEXT ON LIST FOR MONTAGUE CLUB. PLAY HERE SATURDAY-SUNDAY

LA CROSSE baseball fans are looking forward to a round of two games at Copeland park this weekend which from all indications promise to yield as much snappy entertainment as the two Madison games.

The Montagues take on the Wabash Screen Doors of Minneapolis, the club which played and lost to the Montagues last year, 4 to 3. This year, two games have been arranged for Saturday and Sunday, both being scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

The games with the Minneapolis club will, in one sense of the word, mark the first anniversary of McCauley's pitching with the Montagues, the southpaw having made his first appearance here last year in the battle with the Screen Doors.

The Wabash company club comes to La Crosse with an undefeated record so far this season, having won all of their fourteen games. The hitting average of the club for the last six games is .487, in which games they scored 70 runs to their opponents' 14.

Theis, former West Salem hurler, is with the club again this year and in addition they have Work and J. Murphy. Theis pitched against the locals last year.

McCauley and a new man, Taylor, will do the twirling for the Montagues. Taylor is a former Range leaguer, and recently of Superior, Gordon, Wis., is his home town and he has been out when he gets in action. "Pepper" Clark, according to announcement Friday, is back on the farm at Eveleth, but according to Manager Bedesheim, has not been released finally.

The visitors' line-up will be as follows: Quigley, ss; Carter, 2b; Sheorhman, c; Theis, cf; Lang 1b; L. Murphy, rf; Olson, lf; Haas, 3b; Work, Theis, J. Murphy, p.

Kinks-o-the Links

Playing on a very heavy course, a player on reaching the green finds that his ball is almost entirely covered with mud, making it utterly impossible for the player to put with any degree of accuracy. Must the player play a ball in such condition or has he the right to lift the ball, marking the spot, clean same, and then replace it without penalty? While mud on the ball invariably renders it unfit for play, especially on the putting green, the rules do not recognize the fact. Unless some special ruling has been made, a player in stroke competition could be disqualified and in match play would lose the hole. When matches are played under heavy conditions, a special ruling is usually agreed upon, which gives the player the right to lift and clean the ball without penalty, which is only fair.

Player after using a new ball for two holes and gets on the putting green of the third hole decides to change the ball in use and replace it with a new one. The ball in use is to be in perfect condition. Has the player such a right? The rules specifically state that a player may change a ball only when it is split into separate pieces or a bad crack renders it unfit for play. An opponent if he so desired would have a perfect right to object to using a new ball for one that was in perfect shape, other than having been used in playing two holes.

Under an old Pennsylvania law, the arrest or imprisonment of any woman for failure to pay taxes is prohibited. Senator Lodge's argument against this world court idea seems to be that it isn't Lodge-lead.

BEDTIME PENCIL PICTURES

I GOT a pencil for my paw this year for his birthday an' it's so good that I borrowed it off'n him to use in school. All th' school kids like it, but paw says that's a heck of a way to give me something, then use it yourself. Follow th' dots an' see what I used on him.

Slater was absorbed in the evening paper when his young son's crying disturbed him.

The invitation was more in the nature of "bluff" than anything else; but, to the teacher's surprise, one stolid, visaged lad rose to his feet.

"Well," argued Slater, absently-mindedly, as his eye fell on a particularly interesting item, "if it's his, why don't you let him have it?"

"Now," thundered the school teacher on a morning of unusual density on the part of his scholars, "you are all blockheads, but there must be one among you who excels in something, even if only in class ignorance."

"Do you require your portrait done in oils?"

"Done in oils! What d'yer take me for—a sardine?"

TRUE TO LIFE

"There's Many a Slip"

The True Reason Given

So he is financially embarrassed? Yes, he actually blushed when I asked him for that $10 he owes me.

Midnight, and in the smoking-room of a club sat a young man huddled in a chair. A friend entered.

"Hello, Brown," he asked, cheerfully, "not going home yet?"

"No," muttered the despairing one, "I-I daren't."

"Why, what's the matter?"

"Matter? It's the end of the everything. It means ruin, grief, and a spoilt life!"

The friend looked frightened.

"Here, Brown, tell me what's up. Perhaps I can help you."

Brown clenched his fists till the knuckles showed white.

"No one can help me," he cried. "I have come to the end of all things!"

At 8 o'clock I telephoned to my wife and gave her a perfectly good excuse for not coming straight home, and—his voice sank to a whisper—"I've forgotten what I said."

PAST AND PRESENT

Professor Noalot was very absent-minded. One morning he drifted into the barber's to be shaved. After the operation he continued to occupy the chair, and the barber, thinking he had dozed off gently, reminded him by saying, "Asleep sir?"

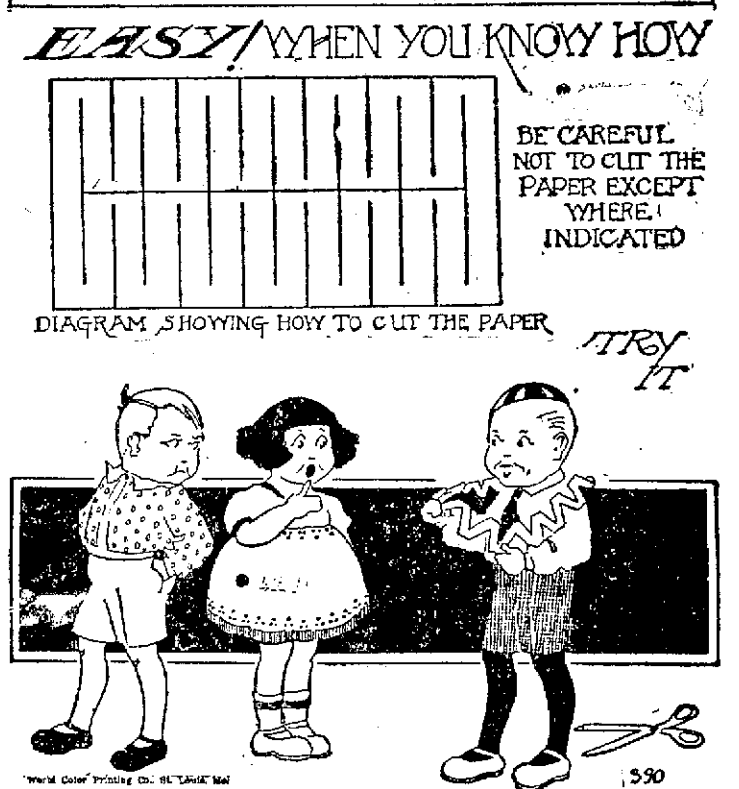

The professor started. "Bless me, no!" he exclaimed. "I am not asleep, but I am terribly short-sighted. When I took my glasses off I was no longer able to see myself in the mirror opposite, and naturally I supposed I had already gone home!"

Smith and Jones were speaking about the fine points of their respective sons.

"That boy of mine," remarked Smith extravagantly, "is the genuine article. He's all wool, you can bet."

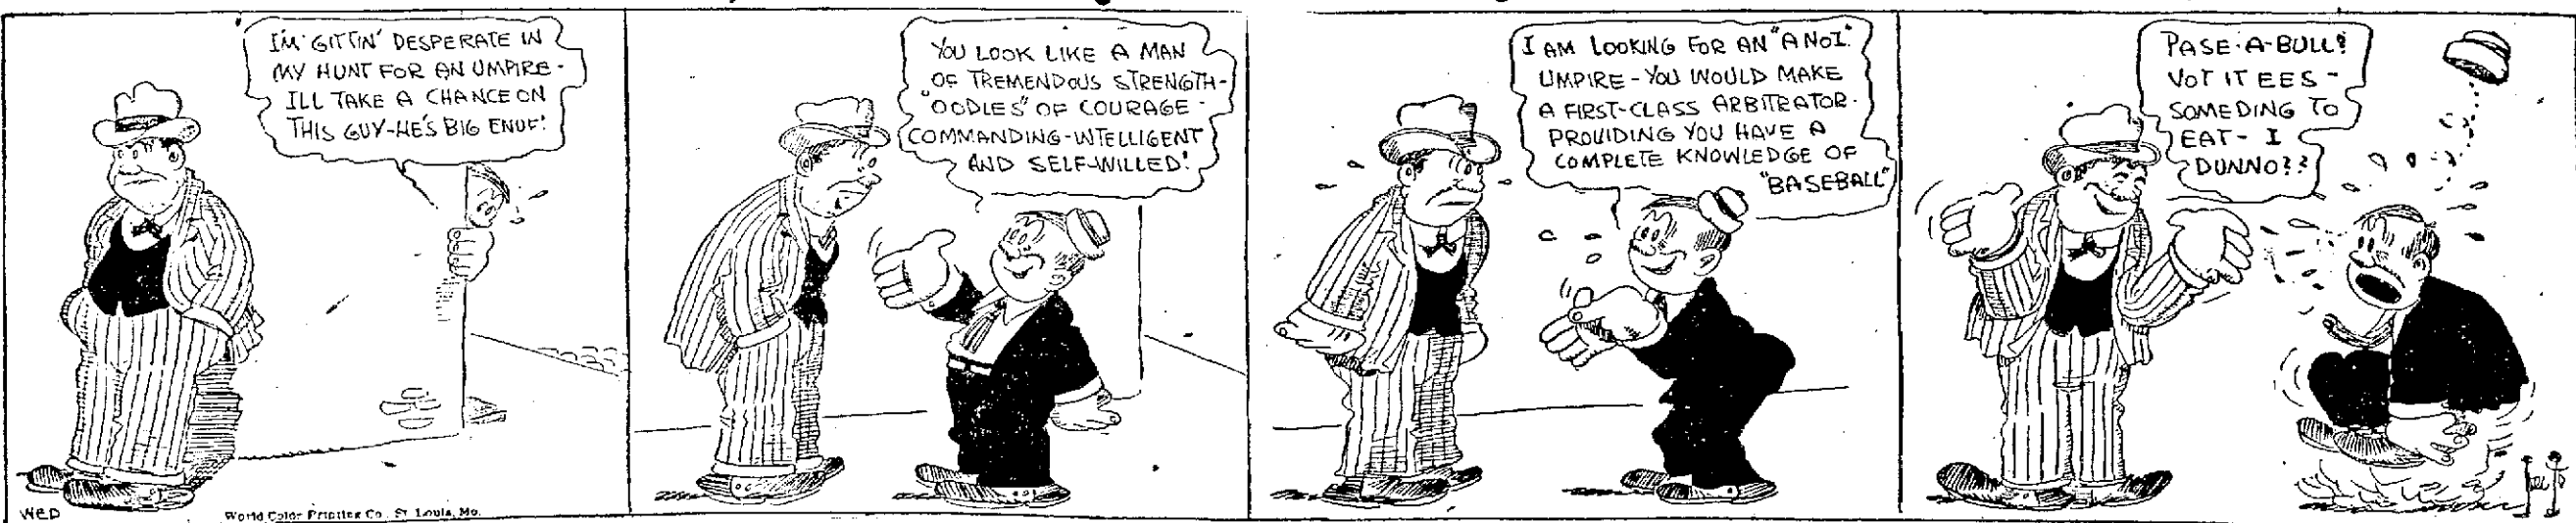

"Shouldn't wonder," commented Jones. "I notice he shrinks from washing."

MAYOR IN ILLINOIS WORKS WITHOUT PAY TO CLEAR CITY DEBT

Town "Broke" a Few Years Ago Being Brought Back to Stable Financial Footing

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. — A few years ago the city of Jacksonville was "broke." It was so financially its credit wasn't good for a 60-cent telegram its then chief executive attempted to send. Today it has a credit of many thousand times 60 cents.

The change has been brought about it is said, by an efficient business administration given by a mayor and a city commission who do not draw a cent of salary for their work for the city.

Elected three times without giving away so much as a nickel cigar or making a single public political speech, Mayor Edward Crabtree, is now in the midst of his third term with the aim to make Jacksonville one of the best business cities in the state. Mr. Crabtree says he never gave a dollar to a campaign fund and never asked for a single vote.

When he returned to Jacksonville after two years of work in liberty bond drives during the war, the citizens of the city urged him to run for mayor. He promised to do so on the sole condition that he be paid no salary and that several of those boosting him for the position run with him for council positions on the same platform.

Jacksonville has a population of 16,000 and a total taxable property worth $12,000,000. It was the first city in Illinois to go "bone dry" and was one of the first to adopt the commission form of city government.

CHANGES VOTED IN STATE CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL REGULATIONS

Measure Provides for Separate Majority Vote in Each of Units to be Merged

MADISON, Wis. — An important change in the consolidated school law has been voted by both houses of the legislature and the bill will be sent to the Governor probably on Saturday. The measure was introduced by Assemblyman E. B. Minter of New Richmond and provides that in order to consolidate the school districts there must be a majority vote in each of the separate voting units which it is planned to consolidate. Probably no educational bill has attracted the attention of the legislature as this measure. It has been bitterly fought at each step through both houses. Educators favoring a more complete consolidated school law have opposed the bill. The fight for the measure in the lower house was made by Assemblyman Minter and in the upper house by Senator John E. Cashman of Denmark.

If Governor Blaine signs this bill, as now seems likely, it will mean that no voting unit can be consolidated unless the people of that community actually vote to consolidate. The bill is a signal that the little one room school house is to be maintained. Some of the provisions of the bill are to the effect that consolidations effected since 1921 may be undone and that the money voted and assessed against localities not desiring to consolidate shall be returned to those localities.

While the fight against the present consolidated school law has been waxing hot in La Crosse County there are many other communities in the state vitally affected. This bill brought more farmers to the legislature to express their views than has any agricultural bill presented at the session.

Engstler was arrested last week in a raid on his farm by federal agents, assisted by Sheriff William Abbott. He was returned here to start serving his sentence Wednesday.

Sheriff Cleveland and deputies are dragging the river. Vitelli's automobile was found on the bridge.

MEN AND AFFAIRS IN WASHINGTON

BY ROBERT T. SMALL
Copyright 1923.

WASHINGTON.—While the United States tariff commission is wangling within itself and with the executive as to how it shall function in carrying out the various schedules of the President's new tariff act, John T. Barnett, of Colorado, for many years democratic national economist, one of its next members, comes out with a safe and sane tariff view which could, and should, take the tariff out of politics. Mr. Barnett is in Washington on legal business.

"I do not believe in a protective tariff," he said to the writer, "nor do I believe in a tariff for revenue only. What this country needs, in addition to a good five-cent cigar, is a competitive tariff."

A Winning Slogan

There is a slogan with which to win an election. It could be adopted by the grand old party itself, the party of protection, and it could easily be adopted by the democratic party, and serve it in the winning of those interests that fear always that the democrats are going to open the gates of America to the hordes of the old world.

A competitive tariff—one that enables the American producer to compete on terms of equality with foreign countries which have an advantage of cheaper raw materials or cheaper labor.

A competitive tariff—the very name implies the flexibility which the producer attempted to write into the Payne-McCumber act.

A competitive tariff. It has a sound of things about it which cannot be mistaken.

It is no question that the term "competitive tariff" gives to the average man the impression that some interest is being "protected" by the government, protected against competition, at the expense of the ultimate consumer and tax payer. The term "competitive tariff" would convey an entirely different impression.

An American business concern has just made the discovery that one of its employees in Berlin, a German with a real idea of tariff in his head, has cashed some of his American checks since last November. Although this employee gives his firm only part time service, his salary is $150 a week. The firm figures that he now has checks for thirty weeks in his possession, totaling for a total of $4,500. German marks this week have been selling around 100,000 to the dollar. In other words if this German employee were to cash his American dollar checks into marks at this rate he would have exactly 450,000,000 marks, or the normal equivalent of more than $1,000,000, but for his slightly more than one half year of part time work.

Better Than Government Paper

One particularly interesting phase of the case is that the checks which are being cashed in Berlin are not bank drafts or cashiers' checks; they are merely the ordinary private checks of the common, German or a bank here in Washington. This case clearly realizes, however, that these tokens of American credit are far more precious than the paper collateral of the German government and he is acting accordingly. The belief is that he is saving the checks in order to make American investments. Then, even with the dividends he collects on the coupons he clips, he can still be a "dime millionaire" in marks.

Meantime that 450,000,000 mark balance that he is holding sounds almost like a settlement of a reparations problem.

Like the motorman who spent his day off riding around on the front platform of a trolley car, Pat Sullivan, of Wyoming, wandered the Grand Wild West show and rodeo which came to Washington as a part of the entertainment for the Myrtle Shriners. Pat Sullivan is by way of being a republican national committeeman for Wyoming, and he is as big in stature and heart as the state from which he hails. Pat went west as a young Irish lad and grew up with the country, grew up into wealth and into a great power in national politics.

A New Experience

Wyoming, it must be remembered, is the real home of the real rodeo. The frontier day celebrations at Cheyenne have attracted more than one president of the United States to this marvelous exhibition of capturing bronchos, broncho busting and all the picturesque features of the life of the real west. To see a rodeo and wild west show pulled off on a city lot was a new experience for Pat. The show left him absolutely speechless, but he came out of the enclosure with a grin on his face reaching from ear to ear. For Pat Sullivan to see a rodeo on the Union station plaza in the National Capital was truly like an old salt getting enthusiasm out of a painted ship on a painted ocean.

SWEDISH IRON FIRM PAYS DIVIDEND OF FIFTEEN PER CENT

STOCKHOLM.—Sweden's biggest corporation, the Grangesberg Iron Mining and Traffic company, whose activity is looked upon as a barometer of industrial conditions, shows in its report for 1922 a net profit of about $2,500,000 on a total capital of about $22,000,000. The board of directors proposed a dividend of 15 per cent. The quantity of iron ore shipped out during the year rose to more than 5,000,000 tons.

It is reported that prices of iron ore have been steadily sinking, and are now only 25 per cent above those of normal peace times before the war. The sale of Swedish ore to the United States for delivery during 1923 has been particularly brisk, and the quantity ordered is already five times as great as the total shipments to America during 1922. The company now has thirteen of its own steamers carrying iron to the United States on a regular schedule, and

CUT COSTS INSTEAD OF BOOSTING TAXES IS PLEA OF TITUS

Hits at Solons Who "Talk Economy and Practice Extravagance"

MADISON, Wis.—W. A. Titus, Fond du Lac, whose vote is a determining factor in the tax fight, authorized a statement Friday in which he said that he was "opposed to the series of tax bills which the senate is passing to increase the burden upon the people."

"What most of those sponsoring these revenue bills want to do," the senator said, "is to talk economy and practice extravagance. I am opposed to any attempt to raise taxes that will permit increased expenditures."

"This legislature cannot continue to pass tax measures and then go before the people at the next election telling how much it sought to economize on expenses. The state should reduce expenditures rather than increase taxes."

Senator Titus declared that if a tax measure could be devised that did not increase taxes and could be shown to be equitable, he would support it.

FATTY ARBUCKLE ADMITS THAT HE CAN'T COME BACK

Former Comedian to Abandon Cabaret Venture and Take to Vaudeville With a Drum

BY BURTON HUMPHREY
(Special Dispatch to the Tribune)
Copyright 1923.

CHICAGO.—"Fatty" Arbuckle admitted that his second attempt to "come back"—this time via the medium of the cabaret—is a failure. The former Palastoff of the movies cannot transfer his slapstick comedy from the silent screen to the runway of a cabaret and so when he completes his local engagement, he will give up the task.

But this does not mean that "Fatty" is through as a public entertainer. Rebuffed in his efforts to re-enter the movies, despite the active assistance of Will H. Hays, the overlord of moviedom, and convinced that he can't make a go of it as a cabaret entertainer, "Fatty" will essay an entirely new comeback. He plans to turn to music, or at least music's syncopated step-child, which is jazz. Arbuckle intends to form a full man's orchestra to be billed as "Fatty Arbuckle and His Ton of Harmony." He longs to get back to his drum and traps where, he thinks, he can show folks real comedy. Tonight in his dressing room whence he was preparing to emerge as a ballet dancer, for the burlesque act wherein a custard pie figures, Arbuckle was asked about his "comeback."

"Do you think it has been a success?" was the question.

"Professionally, no," he replied. "But the people have been very kind. They have come out to see me, and they have been extremely generous in their applause. In return I have done my best to amuse them in a poor act. I want to entertain them in the way I am best fitted. Give me a drum to work with and I am right at home. When I appear next after this engagement I think it will be with my own orchestra. There I can be amusing while maintaining a certain dignity also."

Ernie Young, who promoted Arbuckle's cabaret venture, is behind the jazz orchestra idea. Young has lined up three heavyweight musicians and is searching for eight more. When they are obtained Arbuckle will head the orchestra and go immediately on the road. Young declares that Arbuckle's cabaret venture has not been a "flicker."

"If Fatty had been a flop I would know it the opening night two weeks ago," he said, "but the reception he received was spontaneous. I will admit that I had some of my friends planted around in the audience to try to save the situation if the crowd was cold because I had too much at stake. But they weren't needed. And every night it has been the same. Some nights there have been more than one hundred but there has not been one less. Before the opening I was a little fearful of protests from some of the church people. But I did not get one letter. I understand the owners got two or three."

"RED ARROW" HELD NOT AVAILABLE TRADE MARK

MADISON, Wis.—The red arrow can not be registered as a trade mark because it is the insignia of the Thirty-second division and as such can not be used legally by any other organization than the Wisconsin fighting unit. J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, held in an opinion to Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman.

A Wisconsin firm manufacturing luggage wanted to use the insignia on their baggage.

Messerschmidt held that it was legal for the firm to print the words "red arrow luggage" on their goods.

POWER INDUSTRY. FACING YEAR OF GREAT PROGRESS

Light and Power Systems of Country to Spend Over Six Hundred Millions

CHICAGO.—The sum of $602,143,000 represents the total of new generating plants, additions to existing plants, and extension of transmission and distribution systems of the electric light and power industry of this country to be built this year, according to a survey just completed and announced by the Illinois committee on public utility information. The expansion of the industry in the middle west is expected far to exceed that of any other section of the U. S., as building programs in the central west call for expenditures aggregating more than one-third of the total for the entire country.

The total value is $278,127,000.

greater than the estimated expenditures in 1922, and $337,325,000 greater than the 1921 expenditures. The building plans in the central states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas call for an expenditure of $206,180,000. Of this $5.2 per cent will be expended for extensions of transmission and distributing systems and 54.8 per cent represents new, and additions to, generating plants.

Advice to Brides

Keep your hands soft and lovely! You can even if you do all your own work—a new idea in household soap. Pure soap!

When a girl loses hand beauty she loses half her charm.

Ugly rough hands are unnecessary. They are without excuse.

Yet 3 housewives in 4 have them—hands that tell kitchen secrets.

Why

Strong laundry soaps used for dishwashing, for household cleaning, are the reason.

Most contain 25% to 40% adulterant. Of 28 popular brands recently tested 27 were thus treated!

Soak your pretty hands in strong suds. And there can be but one answer,

Now a Gentle Way

As world's experts in beauty, we have developed a new idea in a household soap.

It cannot injure sensitive skin—nor delicate fabrics.

We call it Green Arrow. Olive oil is one of its chief ingredients. It is like a fine toilet soap, yet cleanses more quickly—more safely—than the strongest old-time soap.

For One Week

Obtain a bar at your grocer's.

Then look at your hands in one week.

You will thank us, as thousands of women have, for telling you about it.

And it costs but a few cents a month to enjoy it, for it goes almost twice as far as poor soap—you must figure soap cost by the month, not by the bar.

Green Arrow Soap comes in two forms—Cake Soap, for general household use—Chips (or flakes) for laundry and fine fabrics. Both offer you unusual advantages.

Your Hands Tell the Story

Rough, ugly hands tell a story to the world. A story of the kitchen, the laundry, the scrub bucket.

Most women do housework. But few want to tell it to every chance acquaintance.

Most laundry soaps contain 25 to 40% water glass. This adulterant, technically known as silicate of soda, is invariably accompanied by an excess of caustic. It is this "filler"—not soap—that ruins hands. Green Arrow is made with the precision of a toilet soap and is pure soap.

Now you can have white and lovely hands regardless of how much kitchen work you do.

For your hands and your clothes sake, go to your grocer and insist on buying GREEN ARROW.
